ECMS

Discussion

Anu has approached Bradley Creamer in regards to a commercial SLO system

Action/Concern

Bradley has expressed that. 1) If a commercial product is purchased, it would be at least a year before it would be integrated into our system and the SLO documentation would come to a standstill during that time; 2) There is no reason to panic, his capacity to create a workable system in a timely manner should not be a worry; 3) There are advantages to a home grown product that he would like to share in more detail. He suggested and we have agreed to invite several vendors to see the SLO Team and Bradley so that the features we would like or need could be fleshed out. Then Bradley could determine what is possible to do within our homegrown system. With the facts, we would then approach a College Committee to that would create a recommendation what the best path for the college would be.

Program Assessment

Matching course SLOs to Program SLOs and subsequently to the ICCs was presented. The concept of using a Gap analysis at each stage was presented in the Academic Senate.

No Concerns from the Senate were expressed, The Senate to take the information back to their constituencies. Several forums discussing the topics maybe conducted too.
