CAS Standards Self-Evaluation Presentation

International Student Programs

Highlights from Self-Assessment

- Provide full support services, from admissions to academic counseling, to a new population of global students who will study solely online from outside the U.S.
- Provide full support services, from admissions to immigration and academic counseling, for "Global to F-1" students who begin their studies online from outside the U.S. but eventually move to the U.S. to complete their educational objective.
- SSPBT approved an additional full-time counseling position for ISP making three full-time ISP counselors available to the international population. (Say something about the counselors are serving students according to their last name.)
- Established pre-arrival information, orientation highlights, etc. via CANVAS modules. The new student orientation program is fully online, followed by a mandatory in-person welcome/check-in day each quarter.

Overhauling the business practices

- Transition of ISP from a safe space to a brave space to reduce power differentials between staff and students, emphasize student strengths, and build a sense of community and trust in which relations are cooperative and mutually beneficial between students and staff.
- Redesign the F-1 Student Exit Form to a fully automated version for data collection and retention purposes.
