Applied Technologies/Automotive Technology --Dave Capitolo, M.Ed. – FT Tenure

I have been an auto tech faculty at De Anza since 2003, and currently serve as department chair since 2016. I have the typical experience in curriculum with five-year revisions, new course development, new program development, noncredit course development, noncredit program development, and currently course and program development for our newly approved Baccalaureate degree program in Automotive Technology Management. I have a genuine interest in the new GE pattern, as this new pattern will be a requirement for students applying to our new degree program. I am also interested in the new GE pattern for our current students in our division because of the SCFF funding implication on awards.

The original intent of our new BS degree was based on the equitable opportunities for underserved students because of the affordability of a Baccalaureate degree at a community college. I think the new GE pattern will make entrance to our program even more equitable than requiring CSU or IGETC patterns.

IIS/Women, Gender and Sexuality Studies – Marc Coronado – FT Tenure

The work of the Local GE Pattern Committee definitely needs to have a diversity of members, divisions, departments, and opinions, particularly as it applies to changes to the requirements for our students, and our evolving curriculum. I work in Humanities, and without understanding what life is like for my colleagues and students who work or take classes in other areas, the work of the committee would reflect only my limited experience and bias. I'm looking forward to learning how others think about the issues we are all currently faced with, and seeing how we can consolidate our thinking.

Counselor -- Barbara Dahlke – FT Tenure

- 1) Hello De Anza colleagues, It's been my pleasure to work in the Counseling Division for over 20 years as an Academic Advisor, General Counselor and International Student Counselor. While in this role I have helped many students navigate the process of getting their AA's, Certificates, and to Transfer. I have served with our former articulation officer on our local GE committee as well in addition to our Mission Statement committee and on Academic Senate several times over the years. As I have experience and familiarity with many types of GE: local, CSU, and UC, I offered to help out with the GE committee this year. 2) I think respect for differences, inclusion, and a wide range of disciplines is necessary for work on this committee. All stakeholders want to have a voice at the table and be included on this GE pattern. I hope myself and the committee can balance subjects and various disciplines on this committee and make sure all faculty feel represented. Thank you for your consideration. – Barb

IIS Division/Mandarin Department – Hua-Fu Liu – FT Tenure

I have dedicated 15 years to teaching at De Anza College, where I hold the position of Mandarin Department Chair. Additionally, I am currently fulfilling the roles of scheduler and curriculum committee member for the IIS Division. With over 7 years of experience serving on the Curriculum Committee, I bring a wealth of diversity to our school community. As Mandarin Department Chair, I contribute to linguistic diversity, promoting cultural understanding and appreciation. My involvement in scheduling and curriculum development ensures that diverse voices and perspectives are represented in our academic offerings. Furthermore, my extensive experience on the Curriculum Committee underscores my commitment to fostering an inclusive educational environment.

BCAT Division/CIS – Mary Pape – FT Tenure

1. My De Anza activities include:

- Served as Senator representing Business, Computer Science, Applied Technologies for Academic Senate 2013-14 through present with four years as AS VP (2018-22).
- Student Learning Outcome Coordinator (current)
- Serve on committees for Institutional Effectiveness Partnership Initiative (IEPI) (2016-17 until present)
- Chair of Computer Information Systems department (2012 - current)
- Member of Instruction Planning and Budget Team (2017 - 2022)
- Co-Chair Technology Committee (2017 - current)
- Member ASCCC Accreditation Committee 2023-24
- Other committee memberships recommending faculty: District Budget Advisory Committee, Police Chief Advisory Committee

2. To develop viable pathways for our students and support our students on those pathways we need input from all disciplines, cultures, ethnic backgrounds, experiences. As we seek that diverse representation, all must feel valued, supported with the needed information, and given space (as in time and compensation) to allow ensure their viewpoints can be heard. All we do must be viewed through the lens of social justice. Closing the gap for our underrepresented students, seeking equity for all, striving for diversity, eradicating racism, providing accessibility are never-ending goals that must guide our critical thinking and decision-making daily and forever.

Social Sciences and Humanities – Jayanti Roy – FT Tenure

1) I am in a PhD program (PhD ABD) in Transformative Social Change.
Have my BA and MA in Human Development.
Have worked at DeAnza part-time and full time since 2011.

2) Diversity matters. Everywhere. It impacts every individual in a myriad of ways and therefore representation matters. The division that will be most impacted is Social Science and Humanities, and having representatives from this division is crucial to understand how this impacts the college.

Social Sciences and Humanities -- Ravjeet Singh – FT Tenure

I have been the Department Chair for Economics since 2011 and before that I was an adjunct faculty in the Department since 2002. I have a Masters/Pre-Doctorate and an ABD in Economics. I have lived and taught in 3 different continents including Asia and Australia. The discipline of Economics is also part of the Social Sciences and Humanities Division.

This area is one of the most impacted as per the Title 5 changes and therefore I am interested in serving on this committee. I have been a members of the Senate since Fall 2022 and also served as part of several hiring and tenure review committees.
